Current Crime Trend-Theft of Wallets at restaurants

This as yet unidentified duo has been noted frequenting restaurants in the area, they steal wallets that have been left in jackets hanging on the back of chairs or booth hooks. The credit cards are then used to go on substantial shopping sprees at local stores. The eye glasses depicted appear to be interchangeable between the two and are likely not prescription. Avoid being victimized and please secure your wallet/credit cards on your person while out for dinner, an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure.
